Kinaxis Certification Program

Overview

2017 Version 2.0

Why Should You Get a Kinaxis Certification?

Having a Kinaxis certification means you have gone through the rigorous process required to increase your skills and abilities, as well as demonstrating mastery of RapidResponse. You have invested the time to be trained, read the documentation and have been exposed to the knowledge of the experts from the supply chain industry thought leader. Your confidence will grow as you raise your own personal bar, and evolve your thought processes to bring innovation and clarity to your work. Achieving a Kinaxis certification should help you:

- Validate your RapidResponse skills
- Implement and adopt RapidResponse faster
- Reduce your reliance on technical support
- Increase your productivity
- Enhance your troubleshooting skills with RapidResponse
- Employ Kinaxis best practices across your organization
- Gain a competitive career advantage
- Be part of an elite group

More Information

Kinaxis Certification Program Overview

To maintain our position as a thought leader in the supply chain space, Kinaxis has introduced a certification program designed to meet the needs of our customers, partners, and employees. Candidates that receive one of our credentials will know the full meaning of Kinaxis Certified.

Our program is built on three levels, ranging from introductory certifications on RapidResponse job roles and functions, up through deeper and more technical detail in the advanced certifications. Our exams can be low-stakes (un-proctored), high-stakes (proctored) or involve a hands-on component and possibly, case studies. We also have application exams, which grant a digital badge upon successful completion. Our employee/partner exams are restricted and not open to all audiences.

The certifications are valid for 30 months from date of issue. We recommend you keep your credentials up to date, in keeping with the advancements being made with RapidResponse and related technologies.

Manage Your Credentials

Kinaxis uses the industry leading certification management tool, CertMetrics. This self-service tracking system allows any candidate to log in and perform various functions:

- View all of your earned credentials

- Download logos, badges, and PDF certificates for each earned credential

- Update your demographic information

- Select your opt-in preferences

- Have a transcript of your credentials sent to anyone

- Publish your credentials to LinkedIn

- Guarantee any certificate using the CertMetrics validation code and URL
