Highlights

- ▶ A single integration platform for all data sources required by RapidResponse
- ▶ Pre-built integrations for SAP and standard connectors for a multitude of data sources
- ▶ An IT-friendly platform-as-a-service for easy administration and support

A single platform for RapidResponse integration

A single platform enables the integration of bulk and transactional data to and from internal and external sources.

Key capabilities

A single integration solution hosted by Kinaxis

The Integration Platform for RapidResponse is a single iPaaS solution designed for authoring, processing and executing data integration workflows. The platform simplifies integrations, helping you get started with RapidResponse faster. As a cloud-based platform, it's easy and non-invasive for IT – we host everything you need for project storage and source control, transformation processing and administration.

Pre-built integrations

SAP-certified process templates mean you don't have to start from scratch. Templates highlight the data we require from your source systems and how it needs to be transformed for integration with RapidResponse. You can extend and reuse process templates to adapt mappings and transformations for your unique integration with RapidResponse.

Data connectivity

Our platform offers standard connectivity to many data sources, plus fast and broad coverage of traditional and modern data sources, including SAP, Oracle and Salesforce. With the breadth of connectors offered, you'll find the ideal connector for your integration needs.

Author data integration workflows

The platform includes a toolkit with visual drag and drop functionality to simplify the design, testing, management and monitoring of your integration jobs and workflows.
